The cost of painting the walls of a room at the rate of Rs. 1.35 per square metre is Rs. 346.20 and the cost of matting the floor at the rate of Rs. 0.85 per m^2 is Rs. 91.80. If the length of the room is 12 m, then the height of the room is:

A. 6M

B. 12M

C. 1.2M

D. 13.27M

Answer key:

A. 6M

Theory:

Let length, breadth and height of the room be l , b and h , respectively.

Then, area of four walls of the room
 $= 2(l + b)h = 346.20 / 1.35 = 252m^2$

$\Rightarrow (l + b)h = 126 \quad \dots (i)$

And $l \times b = 91.8 / 0.85 = 108$

$12 \times b = 108 \quad (\because l = 12m)$

$\Rightarrow b = 9m$

Using (i), we get, $h = 126 / 21 = 6m$

The water from a roof 9 sq. metres flows into a cylinder container of 900 cm² base. To what height will the water rise in cylinder if there is a rainfall of 0.1 mm?

A. 1CM

B. 0.1M

C. 0.11CM

D. 10CM

Answer key:

Theory:

Let height will be (h) cm.

Volume of water in roof = Volume of water in cylinder

Volume of 1cubic meter is 1000L

So,

$$\Rightarrow (9 \times 10000 \times 0.1)/(900 \times 10) = h$$

$$\therefore h = 1 \text{ cm}$$

A. 1CM

Select the appropriate word in each sentence below. The answer is the set of options in all the four sentences

1. The Parthenon, along with Cheops's pyramid, Wren's churches and Mansard's palaces —ranks as an architectural archetype(A)/prototype (B).
2. The builders of the Parthenon were steeped (A)/steered (B) by tradition, yet free to experiment.
3. They worked to (A)/for (B) extreme precision, yet the final result was anything but rigid.
4. Knowing that long horizontal lines appear to sag, even though they are absolutely straight, horizontal elements were deliberately curved and the vertical columns "fattened" in the middle to compensate (A)/accommodate (B) for the vagaries of the human eye.

A. BABB

C. ABAA

B. AABB

D. BBBA

Answer key:

Theory:

C. ABAA

Sentence 1- The Parthenon, along with Cheops's pyramid, Wren's churches and Mansard's palaces — ranks as an architectural archetype (A)/prototype (B).

Archetype and prototype are words that are often confused. An archetype refers to an ideal or theoretically perfect example that existing things or people strive to copy but can never duplicate. A prototype, on the other hand, is an early, usually unrefined version of something that later versions reflect but may depart from.

The correct choice of word for this sentence about the Parthenon is archetype.

Sentence 2- The builders of the Parthenon were steeped (A)/steered (B) by tradition, yet free to experiment. The word steeped means drenched or soaked. However, the verb steeped is usually followed by "in" and not "by" in a sentence. The builders of the Parthenon were steeped in tradition makes sense.

However, we have the word "by" in the sentence following the verb, so the correct word to be used here is steered (guided) by tradition.

Sentence 3- They worked to (A)/for (B) extreme precision, yet the final result was anything but rigid. The correct word here is to, not for.

Sentence 4- Knowing that long horizontal lines appear to sag, even though they are absolutely straight, horizontal elements were deliberately curved and the vertical columns "fattened"? in the middle to compensate (A)/accommodate (B) for the vagaries of the human eye.

Compensate makes better sense than accommodate in this sentence. To compensate for the vagaries of the human eye, structural adjustments were made to the Parthenon. Accommodate would have been followed directly by "the vagaries of the human eye"? without the need for a "for"? in the sentence.

One of the statements below contains a word used incorrectly. Choose the option which has the incorrect or inappropriate usage of the word.

- (a) Last week we learnt about the right way to greet our customers.
- (b) "Get it write the first time" is an often-heard management slogan.
- (c) In India, driving on the Right side of the road is wrong.
- (d) The rite of afternoon tea is described in many of Enid Blyton's books

A. a

C. c

B. b

D. d

Answer key:

Theory:

We are looking at "right", "write" and "rite" in this question. "Right" can denote direction or being correct. "Write" is the verb. "Rite" is any regular ritual or ceremony that happens. All these make options A, C and D error-free. Hence, the right answer choice is option B. It should have been "Get it right the first time". The question is "One of the statements below contains a word used incorrectly. Choose the option which has the incorrect or inappropriate usage of the word."

B. b

Hence, the answer is "Get it write the first time" is an often-heard management slogan.
